

CULTURA DIGITAL 2

A futuristic robot, with a sleek and metallic design, is calmly giving logical, detailed responses to Goku, who is now a comically large, cooked piece of meat. The robot is standing tall, with glowing blue eyes and a display screen showing data and responses. Its arms are outstretched, as if in the middle of explaining something complex to Goku, despite the absurdity of the situation. Goku's meat form is exaggerated, with a large, juicy steak-like body, sizzling with heat, and a pair of cartoonish, shocked eyes carved into the meat. The setting is an empty, futuristic kitchen with high-tech appliances, and a faint aura of comedic absurdity surrounds the scene. The robot's expressions are calm and logical, in stark contrast to the absurdity of Goku's current state as a piece of meat. The lighting is dramatic, casting a slight sheen on the robot and the sizzling meat, creating a surreal, humorous tone

